DISASTEROUS WIND STORM

Much Damage Done to Telephone Lines and Private Property.

One of the worst wind storms which has ever visited this section in the remembrance of "the oldest inhabitant" began late Sunday afternoon and continued unabated until Monday morning with varying winds all day Monday.

The damage to property in this vicinity was considerable, shade trees in all parts of the town being blown down, trees being found lying across the road and sidewalks in different parts of the village. A window was blown from the tower in The Randall building and struck on the east side of Congress street. A barn owned by Frank Shippey, just below Morrissett Corners on the Morrisville road was blown down and shade trees at the corners were badly damaged.

Probably the greatest damage was done to the Citizens Telephone line, there being over 200 poles down and 1000 subscribers temporarily without service. Telephone connections were impossible Monday morning in nearly all directions and the service has been badly crippled since, although by good work with a large force of men, Supt. Schutt has succeeded in getting some of the lines to working in all directions. There is much to be done yet, however, and the telephone people are clearing the trouble as fast as possible.

The Morrisville electric wires were put out of commission Sunday night, but everybody was given lights Monday night and the power was available as usual all day Monday. Several poles on the line at Waterbury Center made it impossible to run the electric cars until Tuesday.

A Miscellaneous Shower

Monday evening twenty-five of the former P. A. classmates and friends of Mrs. Kittie Boynton Gage gathered at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Boynton, on Jersey Heights. The occasion was a shower in honor of Mrs. Gage's recent marriage and the affair was a pleasant surprise to Mrs. Gage, the arrangements having been cleverly arranged by several of the young ladies. The parlor was prettily decorated with red and green, the work being done in the early evening by the guests, and when Mrs. Gage returned from the store at about nine o'clock she was genuinely surprised to find the parlor filled with guests.

After greetings were over and the guests given a hearty welcome, the hostess was presented with a large number of presents, including cut glass, silver and linen. Mrs. Gage, being blindfolded, was required to find the presents and deposit them in a large white and red crepe paper basket, which was placed in the center of the room.

The dining room decoration consisted of a centerpiece of marigolds. Refreshments of coffee and cake were served. The evening was a pleasant one and before departing the guests extended to Mrs. Gage best wishes for much happiness in the new home in the far west.

An Important Department

Robert D. Merrill, Teacher of Agriculture in Peoples Academy, has fourteen young men in his department, of which number approximately one-half are direct from the farm, which shows that the farmers appreciate the value of this department. This branch of work at the Academy, it seems to the writer, is most important, and the co-operation of the farmers in this vicinity is very desirable and, in fact, almost essential to the fullest measure of success of the work.

Peoples Academy is one of about two thousand secondary schools that are offering this work as a part of their curriculum and most of the larger colleges are accepting agriculture as a part of their entrance requirements, recognizing its cultural character.

It is understood that steps are being contemplated to bring about a closer co-operation between the agricultural department and the farmers of this community.

Reception to P. A. Faculty

The reception given to the faculty and students of Peoples Academy by the Epworth League last Friday evening proved to be an enjoyable affair. The program was as follows:—Male Quartet, Messrs. Best, Lawson, Siloway and Ward; Piano Solo, William A. Best; Vocal Solo, T. B. Ellis. The orchestra furnished excellent music for the occasion. Refreshments of punch and wafers were served by Mrs. A. W. Waite and Mrs. Willis Terrill. Much credit is due the Epworth League for its untiring efforts in making the reception a success.

Woman's Club

The next meeting of the Woman's Club will be held at the Centennial Library building next Monday evening. The meeting will be in charge of Miss Simpson and Current History will be the subject for consideration. Frin. R. C. Reynolds will address the meeting upon the subject of "The Great American Illusion."

THE EARLE STORE

A Word About Garments

We wish you to remember that we have received a great share of our Winter suits and coats. We get what we want in buying them early, therefore we urge our customers to make early selections, as many of the styles on hand cannot be duplicated. Materials are scarce on account of the scarcity of dye stuffs. We have some splendid coats for misses' school wear that are said to be the best bargains shown.

House Gowns at a Discount

If you are in need of a good house gown just step in and see what the attractions are in the way of price. All sizes. All sizes in wrappers.

On the Remnant Counter

There are many things to be picked up that come in play and at a price that saves one about half.
